THE WEEK RECOMMENDS

7 hotels known for impeccable service

Your wish is their command

BY CATHERINE GARCIA, THE WEEK US PUBLISHED 17 HOURS AGO

Only the best will do for guests at Royal Mansour Marrakech

“At your service” really means something when you hear it at these hotels. Each one is known for offering exquisite hospitality, with talented teams that go above and beyond to impress grateful guests.

At the glamorous Mark on Manhattan's Upper East Side, the service is "razor-sharp and friendly," said The Times of London, and "small, innovative touches" like the "posh" Haute Dog Stand and express shoeshine from John Lobb "propel the Mark to the top of its game." The concierge team is led by Maria Wittorp, who often tells guests, "our only limitation is your imagination." They can set up just about anything, including a private Gilded Age Mansion Tour and Champagne-soaked after-hours shopping trips on Madison Avenue.
